Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2508660A2] The clothing piece i.e. socks (1), has two first stitch rows between which a second stitch row is arranged, where the clothing piece is made of a knitted fabric. The first and second stitch rows respectively include hydrophobic threads plated on elastic core threads in a region of the knitted fabric, where the hydrophobic threads are enlaced as plush and partially made of a synthetic fiber material or a natural fiber material e.g. wool and/or cellulose- and viscose fibers. The knitted fabric is knitted on a knitting machine that has knitting systems for successively knitting the stitch rows.
