Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2511645A2] The electronic target (1) has several sensor elements (8) for detecting a light signal such as laser light signal output from a light signal generating unit (2) provided in a shooting gun. A visual display unit (3) displays indication signal based on the impact of light signal on sensor elements that are arranged in grid pattern. The sensor elements are covered by a semi-transparent cover (4) through which light passes. An independent claim is included for shooting training device.
