Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2011085955A1] The invention relates to a device for sealing a gap (6) between at least two parts (2,3) that are moved with respect to each other, namely a fixing part for fixing at least one elastic sealing element (12) at an edge (15) thereof and a stop part (3,2) on which another edge (16) of at least one elastic sealing element runs. The fixing part has at least one groove (18) running along the gap. One or preferably more anchoring parts (21) are inserted in said groove, said anchoring parts engaging through or around the sealing element and/or a retaining element (24) that retains same.
