Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2530231A1] The glazing bar (1) has a base body that is fastened to a window sash (3) or to a window frame and a free surface, where a recess (16) is formed in an open area. A holding device for window decorations is adapted to receive a fastener. A closure device is movable back and forth, and is arranged between a closed position and an open position within the recess. The closure device has a cover plate for closing the recess. An independent claim is included for a holding device for a window decoration.
