Abstract (en)

Methods and systems are disclosed herein to provide payment delegation for transactions. A payment request may be transmitted to a point of sale system from a mobile device. The mobile device owner may request that payment details for the transaction be obtained from a third-party device, such as a parent's computer. The point of sale system may transmit an approval request to the third-party device, or the mobile device may transmit an approval request to the third-party device. Upon receipt of payment details, the payment details may be communicated, and the transaction may be completed.
