Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2541153A2] The method involves movably arranging a control element (11) on a positioning region (10) of an operating device (9) for setting operation condition of a cooking plate (1). A sensitive operation panel (14) is formed on top surface (13) of the control element. The control element is operated by touching the sensitive operation panel for selecting cook zones (4-8) on a cooking hob plate (2). The selection of the cook zone is automatically acknowledged by releasing the sensitive operation panel or by rotating the control element. An independent claim is included for cooking hob.
