Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2543918A2] The rod-shape torch has a contact ring (150) that is arranged between a front surface of a light housing (1) and a cover part (160). Two guiding flanges are integrally molded at the cover part, and are aligned in longitudinal direction of the light housing. The guiding flanges retain a slider (17) with a guide bar (171) in guide recesses (161) in longitudinal adjustable manner. The contact ring is introduced with a spring contact (15) between the guide flanges. A spring clip (12) lies between the guide flanges of the cover part by the spring contact.
