Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2549045A2] The facing shell (4,5) is provided with an extension (6) in such a manner that force-fit connection is provided between the facing shell and a window- or door frame (1,2). The extension is provided at a distance from an edge of the facing shell. The facing shell is made of aluminum. The window- or door frame is made of plastic hollow profiles. The extension is clamped in an elastic recess of the window- or door frame. The facing shell is extended over a part of the window- or door frame.
