Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2011120761A2] The invention relates to an article carrier having a concave surface portion (5) for storing articles which are capable of rolling, and having a further surface for butting against a shelf (3) of a refrigerator. A retaining means (4) is designed in order to retain the article carrier (1) optionally on an upper side of the shelf (3), with the concave surface portion (5) of the carrier oriented upwards, or with its further surface butting against an underside of the shelf (3). The invention also relates to a refrigerator, in particular domestic refrigerator, in particular having a shelf with such an article carrier.
