Abstract (en)
The invention relates to a cord comprising a core (1) formed by: a strip or band of paper suitably twisted longitudinally, a layer of adhesive (2) for affixing an outer covering (3) to the core (1), and an outer covering (3) formed by fibers (31) arranged around the core (1) and wound helically along the length of same, covering the entire surface thereof. The layer of adhesive can be applied either to the outer surface of the core (1) or to the fibers (31) that will be coiled around the core (1) to form the outer covering (3).
