Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2556773A1] The container has support frames designed as horizontal struts (3) and vertical vines (4) and arranged above one another. A head-side tray (5) and downstream trays (6, 7) are attached to the support frames for receiving goods (W), where the head-side tray includes diagonal slanting angle that deviates from the downstream trays. The head-side tray is diagonally bent, and the downstream trays include a predominant horizontal arrangement. The head-side tray includes a smaller depth opposite to the downstream trays, and the struts and vines are connected with each other.
