Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2562996A1] Disclosed are a mobile terminal and a method for adding contact information. The mobile terminal includes: an input module, configured for providing an interface for adding a plurality of contacts including an input control and a clear control, wherein the input control is configured for generating an input instruction according to an operation of a user and the clear control is configured for generating a clear instruction according to the operation of the user; a control module, configured for adding information of the plurality of contacts according to the input instruction from the input module and deleting the information of the plurality of contacts on the interface for adding a plurality of contacts according to the clear instruction from the clear control; and a storage module, configured for storing the information of the plurality of contacts added by the control module. By way of the present invention, the flow of storing contact information is simplified and user experience is improved.
