Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2589742A1] The device (10) has a roller shutter armor (12) rolled with a suspension in a recess (16) of a shaft (11). An end element (14) of the suspension pointed to the shaft comprises a detachable fastening mechanism (15) for detachable fastening of articulated connected links (13) at the shaft. The detachable fastening mechanism is formed from a hand-actuated rotation element at which two operating arms are movably fastened with locking hooks, where rotary movement is converted into a translative movement. The rotation element comprises an eccentric arranged mounting projection for the arms.
