Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2594126A1] The basket (10) has frame parts (21) arranged at a distance to each other, and rods (22) or pivot axles arranged between the frame parts in a fixed manner for forming a separation surface with passage openings (20). Finger-shaped elements extending between the rods or pivot axles are inserted into the passage openings and arranged with a middle axial distance to each other in an axial direction of the basket. Each element has a middle breadth over a longitudinal extension, where ratio of the middle breadth of the element to the middle axial distance between the elements amounts to 3.5.
