Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2601849A1] The bra (40) has anterior surfaces (40a) for covering a part of a chest and partially surrounded by a lower edge (41a) of a main belt (42). The main belt comprises an upper face (42a), a lower face (42b) and two opposite ends (43, 44), where the ends are prolonged on a posterior face (40b). Two auxiliary strips comprise two ends that are fixed to the ends of the main belt. A receiving and sliding unit (48) receives and slides the auxiliary strips arranged on the posterior face to allow overlaying and sliding of the auxiliary belts with respect to the main belt.
