Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2602554A1] The door comprises an elongated door profile (14) which is arranged in the inner side (16) of an external disc (12). A support frame (19) is arranged on the inner side of the external disc, and a support bar (26) for holding the door profile on the external disc, is arranged in the support frame in extended manner, in the assembled state of the door profile. The support bar is arranged in the recess (24) formed in the longitudinal side of a wall (23) of the door profile, in the mounted state of the door profile on the support frame. An independent claim is included for a method for mounting door profile against inner side of external disc of household appliance door.
