Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2012019342A1] A portable angle grinder comprising a housing, a bearing flange member attached to the housing, and a protective guard mounted to the bearing flange member. The protective guard comprises a guard body, an open-type clamping collar fixed to the guard body and having two fastening tabs opposed to each other, a set of clamping screw and nut for fastening the two fastening tabs near each other while leaving a gap between them, and screw retaining means for preventing the clamping screw from moving out of the clamping collar. The screw retaining means is attached to or formed by the clamping screw.
