Abstract (en)
The present invention relates to a wardrobe with sliding doors, which have a bracket (20, 21) at the upper edge for supporting rollers (30, 32) engaging a guide (4, 8,9). The rollers (30, 32) have a rolling axis substantially perpendicular to the wall (P) upon which the guide is applied and are arranged staggered with respect to the sliding direction of the door (2, 3). Thus a regular and accurate sliding of the doors is obtained, in addition to effectively applying braking devices into the guide grooves (4, 8, 9) of the rollers.
