Several projections (2) are distributed on peripheral surface of pen shaft and/or peripheral surface (7) of cap in a state extending in direction of central longitudinal axis (8) of pen. The projection of another pen is inserted into recess (3) at cap at right angle to central longitudinal axis of pen. The projections are rotatable in recess in longitudinal axis extending parallel to central axis in the connected state, when several pens and/or accessory devices are fixed to each other.
