Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2620402A1] The winding and setting device has a carriage that is movable between a winding station and a setting station for transfer of wound web roll (1). Several rollers are arranged on circumference of the wound web roll. The wound web roll is moved with the rollers by the carriage along a slideway plane for displacing into the setting station, and the rollers are not moved during setting of the wound web roll.
