Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2623687A2] The support has a fastening unit for fastening a lower base profile (1) of a covering strip to the support, where the covering strip includes a covering profile. Upwardly directed bars stand in engagement in a corresponding fastening groove at the base profile, and are formed in an inwardly-directed nose. A receiving chamber for the base profile is provided between the bars, where the base profile includes a base plate (11) and two upwardly directed legs (12). The base plate includes a bore hole (13) for a screw connector for fastening the base profile between the legs. An independent claim is also included for a shrouded-type panel.
