Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2623703A2] The profile (100) has a set of holding elements e.g. locking projection (130), first contact surface (140), second contact surface (145) and hook (180), for positive detent connection of a guide rail profile with the profile. Another set of holding elements such as the locking projection, the first and second contact surfaces, a third contact surface (150) and a detent recess (160) produce another positive detent connection of an alternative guide rail profile arrangement with the profile such that the two sets of holding elements are not completely identical. Independent claims are also included for the following: (1) a guide rail (2) a component assortment part for setting up guide rail.
