Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2012047177A1] The subject of the invention is a serviette provided with two separable fastenable neck bands and openings for buttons or a tie, wherein the two neck bands are part of the serviette and perforated on the serviette and can be optionally partly separated therefrom and used for the purpose of tying such serviette. The serviette provided with two separable fastenable neck bands and openings for buttons or a tie of the invention solves the set technical problem in a way that a conventional serviette is provided at two opposite sides with perforated bands (1) and slits (2) that are intended to stabilise the bands (1) and the bands (1) serve for tying the serviette around a neck.
