Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2626509A1] The formwork arrangement has a formwork portion (16,18,20,22,24,26) and a support for fastening the formwork portion, where the support has a support element that receives a portion of the support force. The support element has a spring arrangement (58) which is formed by a plate spring, particularly a set of plate springs. The support element is longitudinally adjustable. The spring arrangement is arranged at one of the ends of the support element. The support element is formed by a support strut.
