Abstract (en)

A brush includes: a brush body (10) having a base plate (11), at least one through hole (113), and a guide rail (115); a bristle unit (20) including a plurality of bristles (22) connected to the base plate (11); a hair-removing plate (31) disposed movably below the base plate (11) and formed with a plurality of bristle holes (311); a push member (32) disposed above the base plate (11) and connected slidably to the guide rail (115) ; and at least one flexible strip (33) that extends through the through hole (113) and that is connected to the push member (32) and the hair-removing plate (31). The push member (32) is slidable along the guide rail (115) and toward or away from the through hole (113) so as to move the hair-removing plate (31) away from or toward the base plate (11). The hair-removing plate (31) moves away from the lower surface (112) of the base plate (11) when the push member (32) slides toward the through hole (113).
