Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2636816A1] The assembly has a fastening interface (15) joined to an interior covering module (6) and mounted on a fastening structure, where the structure is provided with a body (25). The interface is provided with transverse branches projected from a longitudinal branch. The longitudinal branch is inserted into an insertion portion and slid against an attaching face (31) of the body opposite to anchoring face (30) along support blocks. The transverse branches are partially received in upper or lower reception portions.
