Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2649906A2] The device (11) has an ejection unit (18) which presses the movable furniture component (12) for a predetermined distance and then ejects the movable furniture component. A damper equipped with a damping device, is integrated into the ejection unit. The damper is provided for damping the closing movement of the movable furniture component, when the movable furniture component is moved into the closed position. Independent claims are included for the following: (1) movable furniture component; and (2) furniture.
