Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2657391A1] The container (1) has an inner container with outer housing. The inner container is accommodated in a household appliance (6), such that the inner container and the outer housing are relatively movable from a closed position to a fragrance delivery position. The outer housing and the inner container are provided with rotation angle elements. A recess is formed in the wall of the outer housing of the inner container. The outer housing is provided with an annular handle. An independent claim is included for the household appliance.
