Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2658040A1] The plug has a cable (30) connected to a connector (20), and a bracket (40) comprising a connecting element for connecting the bracket with the connector. A clamping element produces a clamping connection of the clamp with the cable. A cap (50) and the bracket are partially included in an installation position, so that the cap is fixed in the connecting element in a receptacle of the connector. The clamping element is fixed in a clamping connection with the cable. The connecting element and the clamping element are formed offset against each other in direction of the cable.
