The ink cartridge (10) has housing (310) provided with a normalized form factor of 0.52 in particular 0.44. A volume and surface of the housing of the cartridge are described. The housing includes two flat housing walls that run parallel to each other. A constant or varying distance between outer surfaces of the housing walls is ranged about 2.34 to 25 mm, where the outermost surfaces of the housing walls include size from 150 to 1200 square cm. A mechanical holding element is releasably supported in the housing. An independent claim is also included for a set of housings for an inkjet printing system or a portable computer.
