Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2664879A2] The positioning device has the edge regions that are provided with the edge portions and scale portions. A fastening portion (50) is aligned on the furniture front in the adjustment position such that the scale portions are positioned at the edge portions of the furniture front. The fastening portion is fixed at the furniture front in the end position (12) such that the edge portions are protruded without the edge portions of the furniture front. An independent claim is included for a method for assembling fastening portion at furniture front.
