Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2012156271A1] The invention relates to an apparatus (1) for fixing connecting means (12, 13), having a U-shaped clamping portion (2), said clamping portion (2) having two mutually opposite free clamping limbs (3, 4) which each have a receiving slot (8, 9), the receiving slots (8, 9) being positioned opposite one another in a manner aligned with one another and being open towards a common side of the respectively associated clamping limb (3, 4) for the insertion of a connecting means (12, 13). A sheet-metal tab (10) is arranged on one of the clamping limbs (3), said sheet-metal tab (10) projecting from the latter on the side remote from the opposite clamping limb (4) and projecting over the receiving slot of the associated clamping limb (3). This apparatus is characterized in that it is producible in a cost-effective manner and independently of connecting means to be fixed.
