Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2687332A2] The screwdriver has a striking cap and a metal shaft body, at which the front end of a screwdriver blade (11) is formed and a striking cap (23) is arranged at rear end. The shaft body has a front slender shaft part (1), at which the front end of the screwdriver blade is formed. A rear, thickened striking cap part (2) is formed as a separate part, where the rear end of the striking cap is formed at the striking cap part. The rear area of the shaft part and the striking cap part are held together by a surrounding injection-molded plastic handle (3).
