Abstract (en)
The present invention provides a portable water-pipe (1) for smoking a substance, such as tobacco or the like, comprising: a housing (2) having a mount (3) for holding the substance to be smoked and a chamber (7) for holding water (W), wherein the chamber (7) is connected in fluid communication with the mount via a first fluid connection (8, 9); and a mouth-piece (10) attached to the housing (2) and connected in fluid communication with the chamber (7) for drawing smoke through the chamber (7) from the substance held by the mount (3). The first fluid connection (8, 9) is configured to inhibit egress of water from the chamber (7) irrespective of an orientation of the housing (2).
