Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2700760A1] The WC comprises multiple movable shower arms (6,11,14) that are mounted in a lavatory housing of a toilet bowl or projected into the toilet bowl. The shower arms are removed by an operation of the toilet bowl. The shower arms include a coupling (13) that comprises multiple line transitions which are oriented transverse to a longitudinal direction of the shower arm. The line transitions of the shower arm are separated and sealed with multiple sealing rings by pressing by a mounting movement of the shower arm. An independent claim is included for a method for cleaning a shower-type WC.
