Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2012171698A1] The invention relates to a wiper blade (10) and to a method for producing a wiper blade (10) for wiping windows, in particular motor vehicle windows, having a supporting element (12) for holding a wiper strip (14) to which a connection apparatus (20) is attached, said connection apparatus having a wiper-blade-side part (15) with claw-like holders (34, 36) which engage around the supporting element (12) at least in regions. The invention proposes that the wiper-blade-side part (15) of the connection apparatus (20) is attached to the supporting element (12) by way of in each case one attachment point (70) for each spring rail (28, 30).
