Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2730848A1] The food carrier retainer (5) has a guide element for receiving a food carrier (6), and a frame element for connecting the guide element with a cooking chamber side wall (3). A spacer is provided for spacing the frame element to the cooking chamber side wall. The spacer is formed by an embossing from the frame element, particularly a material-displacing embossing of the frame element. The spacer is oriented in a direction, which is facing the cooking chamber side wall in the installed position of the food carrier retainer.
