Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2735517A1] The plastic container (1) comprises a mouth portion (2), a base body (4) with a peripheral wall (42) and a container base (6). The container base has a central area and multiple reinforcing ribs (64,66) extended from the central area in the direction of the peripheral wall. A stepped portion (44) is formed partially running in the circumferential direction of the plastic container extending around the longitudinal direction (L) in the circumferential area (60) of the container base. The height position of the stepped portion varies in the longitudinal direction.
