Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2738299A1] The laundry treatment machine has a loading opening on the front side of the housing, where the loading opening is closed with a door (1). The door comprises a door support ring (4), which is locked by a clamp (3) and is swiveled by a hinge (2). A door panel ring is fixed on the door support ring by radially arranged catches. The catch is designed in the form of a bayonet catch between the door support ring and the door panel ring. The catches are arranged over the circumference of the door support ring and the door panel ring in a distributed manner.
