Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2740865A1] The fitting (4) has a closure lath (11) and a shift device, where the closure lath is supported such that the closure lath is provided in an unlocking position and in a locking position at the shift device. A retainer zone (59) is arranged in a wing frame (1) for partial retaining of the closure lath fitting. A euro groove (51) is provided in a blind frame, where width contour (60) of the blind frame is formed so as to ensure insertion into the euro groove. The retainer zone is extended over an entire region of the closure lath fitting. An independent claim is also included for a window or door.
