Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2745734A1] The device has a coupling element which is provided with an anchoring portion (2) at a hollow trim section (4). The hollow trim section is fixed with a front element (3) through an engaging portion (1) upon application of thrust force. The retaining forces between the front element and the furniture are maintained in an assembly state of the front element and furniture over the coupling element. The engaging portion and the anchoring portion are mutually displaceable with respect to each other along two vertical space axes, while maintaining the locked state. An independent claim is included for furniture.
