Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2745737A1] The attachment unit attaches the front element (13) to piece of furniture (1) through the furniture movement units (6,7). The front element associated with furniture bearing point is received on the furniture in the assembly state. The device component is brought into contact against a diaphragm portion (6d,7d) of furniture movement units, such that front element on the discharge of the bearing point over system component is supported on furniture movement unit. An independent claim is included for furniture.
