Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2746703A2] The door (2) has a grip unit (15) that is attached at various positions (16,17) based on the selected stop sides (2a,2b) at a door base structure (2d). The grip unit is arranged at a positioning device (18). The grip unit is moved between the corresponding positions by the positioning device for connection at the door base structure through the stop sides. Independent claims are included for the following: (1) a household cooling apparatus; and (2) a method for positioning a grip unit at door base structure.
