Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2756780A1] The holder (1) has frame laths fixed spaced apart from each other by a connection unit. A spring strip is defined by another connection unit. The latter connection unit is extended transverse to the frame laths. An elongated plug (3) is provided as a projection that is provided to a clamping engagement in an opening provided in a molding cavity and designed to adapt a recess. The elongated plug is extended in a longitudinal axis that is parallel to an aligned base plate (2). The plug is connected to the aligned base plate by a connecting web.
