Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2764789A1] The utility object is made of multiple sheet-like pieces of material (3a,3b), which are arranged adjacent to each other in a common main plane and joined together, particularly sewn, at their mutually contacting edge regions (4a,4b). Projections (5) of one material piece rest on the outside (8) of the edge region in the region of recesses (6) of another material piece, where the projections are connected to material pieces.
