Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2767490A1] The tank (T) has an outer wall limiting a chamber, and bracing recesses (4a, 4b) molded in the outer wall with a draft angle. The recesses include an opening (13) in the outer wall, and the recesses is fitted in a mold of a load-bearing element (A) i.e. expanded polystyrene mold part, by a mounting device that is separately manufactured from the tank. The inner mold of the recesses or a predetermined lower section of the recesses is adapted in the outer mold of the recesses, and the recesses or predetermined lower section of the recess is provided in the tank. The load-bearing element is made of plastic or metal or concrete. An independent claim is also included for an installation fixture.
