Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2770123A1] The assembly has a connection base that presents a hollow body with a male end (4) for hydraulic quick action coupling. A shower mast is arranged with an end part i.e. mast foot, that is ready to be introduced into hollow body of the base by an opening of the hollow body. The mast foot is arranged with a female end for hydraulic quick action coupling. A control ring is arranged to be accessible from the outside of the mast of the shower so as to control locking or unlocking of the female end with regard to the male end. Independent claims are also included for the following: (1) a method for connection of a mast of a shower to a connection base (2) a method for disconnection of the mast from the connection base.
