Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2774865A1] The system has a ring (3) surrounding an end of a neck, and guiding pins placed on an external surface of the neck receiving the ring. An internal surface of the ring includes guide rails (14) projected inside the ring, where each of the rails receives and cooperates with the pins when the ring is assembled to the neck and rotated around the neck. Longitudinal dimensions of the rails define a displacement race for the pins until ends of the rails are equipped with an end of a travel stop (15) such that the pins are supported against the stop. The ring is blocked in rotation. An independent claim is also included for an ornamental assembly for a container.
