Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2778105A1] The device (10) has a displacement unit (700) for conveying stacked notes of pecuniary value into a transport container (12) by way of a conveying face in operating state. A closure unit (600) comprises a movable frame, which surrounds the container and a frame opening. The movable frame is fully opened during filling. The displacement unit assumes another operating state in which cross sectional area is reduced in such manner that the unit passes through the partially closed frame when moved out. An independent claim is also included for a method for filling a transport container of flexible material with notes of pecuniary value.
