Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2778276A1] The housing (1) has a front wall (3) and a rear wall (7), where the front wall and the rear wall are fixed at a base module (2) for the construction of the frameless housing and for transmitting the weight of the household appliance on the supporting surface of the base module. The front wall is arranged at the base module in a fixed position. The side walls (5,6) are connected with a cross-element (4) and are fixed under a gas formation to the base module between front wall and rear wall. An independent claim is included for a method for fitting-out a housing.
